

Insperial Fact Sheet

Insperial is a group of companies specializing in surface solutions for the mass transportation industry. The group's core capability is to bring customization and creativity to any surface and to help customers improve and enhance their operations through the use of enhanced and sustainable materials. With operations in the Americas, Europe, and Asia, Insperial combines local support with a global mindset.

For over 30 years, Perrone Aerospace has been a pioneer in advanced leather and materials manufacturing. Based in Fultonville, New York the Perrone tannery is a modern state of the art facility capable of producing leather from raw hides to finished leather. Perrone products fly with some of the worlds most esteemed airlines and enjoy a reputation of high quality, luxury products that you would expect from a classically ostentatious product such as leather. Perrone leather is a wholly owned part of the Insperial group.

Adhetec is a market leader in the field of decorative and adhesive solutions for aircrafts. Specializing in highly customized products, They produce a wide array of made to measure high resolution graphics, textured 3d surfaces and backlight compatible films. Adhetec is known for its fast turnaround, low minimum order quantities and bespoke manufacturing services and is a wholly owned part of the Insperial group.

MGR Foamtex blends craftsmanship and engineering to create bespoke upholstery for aircraft interiors. Known for its Softwall and Stylecover systems, MGR shapes leather, synthetics, and Alcantara into elegant, precision-made forms. Each piece is hand-finished for beauty, durability, and easy installation, delivering comfort and sophistication for both business jets and commercial cabins—crafted with the care and precision of a Savile Row garment.

From concept to certified production, Insperial delivers innovation without compromise—any scale, any surface, anywhere. As your single-source solution for aircraft interior materials, we operate at a globally local scale, combining worldwide reach with personal service. Continuing to grow and expand across markets, Insperial is your trusted partner for precision, performance, and purpose—bringing every surface to life with intelligence and craftsmanship.
